

Temperance Column.

By the Ocala Temperance Reform Club.

Rev. J. P. Hilburn and Isaac Stevens, Editors

The Club meets every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Temperance Hall. The Public are invited.

"MIND YOUR BUSINESS."

The president of the Liquor Dealers' League of Pennsylvania is reported to have said in his inaugural address: "I say to the temperance people, attend to your business and let us attend to ours."

This is as though the assassin should say to his victim:

"Keep right on at your work and do not mind me; I will attend to my own business."

The law makes it the business of every man to protect his children. If this is every man's duty in reference to assaults or menaces or nuisances that affect only the physical well-being, how much more in the case of evil that destroys, if left alone, not only the body, but the soul? Would to God that every temperance man would attend strictly to his business!—United Presbyterian.

If the temperance people of Ocala will continue to "mind their business" faithfully it will not be long until the whisky business will be at an end in our city. We don't want to hurt men who are in the liquor business, but we would save them and others by closing a business that is ruining the men who sell and those who buy.

Rev. J. P. Hilburn, pastor of the Ocala Methodist church, is not only an able preacher but also an excellent worker in the cause of temperance and moral reform. He is a man of power and influence, and is delightfully genial and magnetic in the social circle. He leaves for the annual conference at Orlando next week. We hope he may be returned to Ocala.

We were glad to meet on the cars Tuesday, en route to Lake Weir, Miss Ethel Vernon Ayer. Miss Ayer has been for some years past in Kentucky at school, and returns, having finished her education, an accomplished, charming young lady. She will make her future home in Florida.

You are cross. Perhaps your feet are pinched by ill fitting shoes. Get a comfortable pair from Rowell and be good-natured again.

We are pleased to note the fact that the recent cold snap did not damage the tender orange sprouts on North Lake Weir. They are green and vigorous.
